Markdown

A combo Markdown cheatsheet and personal style guide focused on Github Flavored Markdown and mkdocs support.

You can generally get by in Markdown knowing headers and italics, then reference this or other cheatsheets for whatever else you need.

Headers

Header / Title
Sub-Header 1
Sub-Header 2
```

Horizontal Line

```
---
```

Emphasis

Use only italics; never bold or underlining.

I can't believe it.
```

Numbered Lists

1. item one
2. item two
3. item three
```

Bulleted / Unordered List

```
- bacon
- eggs
- five
```

External Links

```
here's a blatant rickroll without any pretense
```

Internal Links

```
here's a link to another page in the same project
```

Embedded Images

```

Transcription Images

When doing transcription, use photos of the source material for emphasis, named after the doc and paragraph number and/or other descriptor.

```

Line Break

Markdown defaults to ignoring single line breaks. When one is needed, use an HTML line break at the end of a line.

line1 line2
```

Block quotes

used for excerpts

The classic novel Pride and Prejudice begins with this deliberately ridiculous statement:

> It is a truth universally acknowledged, that a single man in possession of a good fortune must be in wan
>
> However little known the feelings or views of such a man may be on his first entering a neighbourhood, t

Poetry and Lyrics Format

There was a young lady named Bright
Whose speed was far faster than light;
She set out one day
In a relative way
And returned on the previous night.

Tables

Should be rarely needed but extremely handy when appropro. Prefer concise format over pretty text format.
